A new Communist threat to Hsuchow is Although a number of larger British firms developing from the North West, following the apparent Red defeat at the hands of the Nationalists in the past few days of fighting East of the Government stronghold, according to competent military sources today:

located near the Kiangsu-Honan border, North West of Hsuchow, where it is estimated 60 per cent of General Chen Yi's main armies are reported to be deployed.

They are being reinforced by units of General Liu Po-chang's forces, which have withdrawn after thrusting South Eastward towards the railway below Hsuchow.

Semi-official reports are expressing the belief that a new major onslaught against the elty is imminent and stated that 2,000 Communists this morning began probing attacks at a point three miles North West of Hsuchow, but were hurled back after brief skirmishing.

In appraising the current successes claimed by the Government around the gateway to Nanking, competent military observers said that the Communists were defeated in the sense that General Chen Yi's Eastern column. which was originally intended as one of the arms of the giant pincers movement in co-ordination with General Liu Po-cheng's forces, had been effectively re-

They said that Red forces, under both General Chen YI and General Liu Po-cheng, estimated at around 300,000, are now massing to the North West, where the Government lines are comparatively thinly manned, following the withdrawal of General Chiu Ching-chuan's armies to the Eastern flank recently, in pursuit of the Communist troops fleeing across into the Shantung border. --Reuler-AAP.

lemporary HK Refuge

The Hong Kong Government has for some time had under consideration the part the Colony could play in providing staging camps, should this become necessary, for the temporaccommodation of those evacuated from North China on the advice of their Consuls.

Any assistance given will be severely limited by the present acute housing shortage. It is proposed, however, if evacuation becomes necessary, to set up camps in certain open spaces in the Colony, tents being used for this purpose. Limited accommodation in Institutions may be possible for invalids and women with young children.

Evacuoes will be encouraged to accept accommodation offered by friends. It is emphasised that the accommodation to be offered to evacuous is of a temporary mature only, pend. ing their onward move are arranging for dependents of their staffs to evacuate, by and large Shanghai's British community, officially revealed as numbering 4,000, has decided to stay, according to all available indications today.

This new threat was posed by forces at present. The majority of local Britons thoroughly approve the watchful, waiting policy adopted by those responsible for their safety and welfare as implied in the British Consul-General, Mr. Urquhart's, guidance statement last night.

> The sober tone of the British statement has done much to pacify war-nervous Shanghai foreigners, a considerable section of whom have to stay put for one reason or another.

With the exception of the Americans, almost all foreign Consular authorities here, it is reported, have decided to follow the British example and await further developments before advising their nationals to evacuate.

Meanwhile, it is learned that although right in the heart of the fighting zone, some 180 Catholic Mission workers are remaining with their churches, hospitals and schools in the Hauchow area, from which only nine Canadians; and

The United States and Great Britain, formally tion of the four-power differences.

The United States once again said it would not implicit in the Russian blockade.

Britain said the Russian veto of a Berlin solution offered by the so-called neutrals of the Security Council stood in the way of progress toward a settlement. That proposal had called for lifting of the blockade, to be followed immediately by a four-power conference. The British also replied to the appeal of Dr. H.V. Evatt, the Assembly President, and Dr. Trygve Lie, the Secretary-General, that the most hopeful approach to a Rerlin solution would be to leave it to the Security Council.

At the meeting of the Court of the University of Hong Kong on Tuesday, Professor Gordon King disclosed that a proposal by, the University Authorities to use the Tung Wah Eastern Hospital for the training of medical students had been accepted in principle.

had been the hope of more than one member of the Faculty to transform the whole of the Queen Mary Hospital into a teaching hospital, but this would have depended on the estabthe Colony.

Professor Gordon King, in his report on the provision of facilities in the future for instruction in the clinical years of the Medical Curriculum, said

"When instruction in the first year subjects of the medical course was re-commenced in October 1946, the University was presented with a unique opportunity of re-modelling the curriculum in accordance with the most modern conceptions of British Medical Education.

"In 1944 the "Report of the Inter-departmental Committee on Medical Schools", (known as, the Goodenough Report) was published, containing a detailed consideration of the many problems involved in Medical Education. This was followed in April 1947 by the General Medical Council's "Recommendations as to the Medical Curriculum," and still more recently, in May of this year, by the "Report of the Medical Curriculum Committee.of the British Medical Association" (known briefly as the Cohen Re-

Drama Of Misery As Refugees Flee South

Nanking, November 16. The war-born misery and despair of the little people, that has long been known to their kind in Manchuria and North China; today has spread to Nanking and Shanghai.

It is stretching its talons of suffering still further into South China.

It can be seen in the hopeless faces of the refugees who are straggling into Nanking by cart, by junk, by roil and on foot. They all are turning.

Grim Reality

Long, winding milling queues of humanity that stand hour after hour waiting their turn at the third class licket windows, are shepherded and kept orderly and quiet by polite but firm police.

There is still lots of good ngture and the traditional Chiness sense of humour left in their hearts, but the grim acceptance of reality is there too. Around the walls, spilling out into the Square, are family groups, Fathers, mothers, toddling children and bables in arms Gathered around them are their pots and kettles and ragged blankets and rolls of hedding, Many stand careful watch over a treasured leg of fresh pork or mutton wrapped in old newspapers. In the American headquarters in Europe organisational plans followed the conventional pattern: of a general and special staff. One problem that arose early and bothered us shroughout the campaigns in Europe was how to separate administrative from operational matters without set-ting up an additional headquarters. American law and regulations give a theatre commander a vast amount of administrative responsibility and authority, much of which he must exercise personally. How to free a mobile, tactical staff from the vast bulk of this wark, which ordinarily must be performed at a fixed, stable headquarters, and still observe economy in highly trained personnel h always a problem. It was diffleult from the beginning, but did not become really bothersome until I was given the additional assignment of Allied commander. For the moment we adopted a temporary solution, realising that England Itself would eventually be morely a base, not a theatre of operations. # RADAR AND RADIO ADVANCES REDUCE FLYING DIFFICULTIES

Recent developments in radar and radio technique have gone a long way to solving the problem of landing in bad visibility. Really thick fog over an airfield, unless dispersed locally by "Fido" is, of course, still an insuperable obstacle which will force an aircraft to wait or land elsowhere.

But so long as a pilot is able to see the runway once he is over it he can now land safely; in making a blind approach to a point from which he can complete his landing visually he may be "talked down" by Ground Controlled Approach or he may have instruments which tell him where he is in relation to the runway.

being developed at their in once he has located the "gate" laboratories, falls into the of the airport, atter category. Ground transmitters direct radio beams recting needles, one vertical guidance: and the other horizontal, tells the pilot where he is flying in relation to this course.

By this means he can be brought to a position 50 feet above the centre of the approach end of the runway, and thereafter he should be able to complete his landing by direct vision with the assistance of the flare path. Two Units

The equipment in the aircraft consists essentially of two units, Glide Path Receiver and a Range and Localiser Receiver. The glide path receiver, which operates the horizontal needle, receives signals from a transmitter whose radio-frequency energy is split into two beams which overlap slightly, their intersection forming a straight plane inalfaed at an angle of a few degrees from the ground. The lower beam is modulate ed at 150 c/s and the supper at 90 c/s, and the function of the receiver is to make a running comparison between the strengths of the modulation

When the alreraft is on the glide path the signals will be of equal strength and the horizontal indicator needle will be at its central position. Any divergence from the glide path is indicated visual indication of "spot" disby the rise or fall of the needle: the pilot must then fly in "towards' it to regain course.

WORLD'S LARGEST FUNNEL

One of the final stages in the exterior construction of the 34,000-ton Cunard White Star liner Caronia took place recently at a Clydebank shippard when the last section of the largest funnel ever placed abourd a ship was fitted. The funnel is in three sections and is 26 feet 6 inches wide and 46 feet deep.

It contains machinery designed to collect and disperse smake from the main engines, and dust from public rooms and cabins. This picture shows the 15-ton section about to be fitted by men on the specially erected scaffolding.

bill, Mr. Churchill said the vance." Government were seeking to cleate a monopoly on the pattern of National State trading, "indistinguishable from that of the Russian Communist Government."

Pointing to the Government benches, he declared. "This is not an economic measure conceived with a view to the right or wrong in the national interest but a party dodge to hold that gong where they sit till they have run the full length of their term.

"The Socialist Ministers must have something new to feed the flames of party strife and prove they still hate and are trying to moul the other half of their fellow countrymen.

"The one thing they fear and shrink from is a general election which is coming upon them and which will censure thele ulumal and evil reign."

Foreign Reactions

Mr. Churchill asserted that the British steel industry, in the nationalised form planned by the Government, would against itself the equally concentrated and probably more powerful forms of collective bargaining" in the United States and loperation." other foreign countries.

"I do not know what measures foreign countries will adopt when confronted with the Socialist State monopoly of British steel. I cannot believe they will be of a helpful or graleful nature." Mr. Churchill said the Government was creating Socialist industrial commissurs. He contended that Socialist parties in every European country had been found altogether inadequate barrlers against Communism. "Indeed, in this bill they are by name, Nimitz said he wished

South Africa To Press Policy Of 'White Supremacy'

Peteria, November 16. The Nationalist Party's ultimate aim of establishing a South African Republic will have to take second place to the Government policy of maintaining the supremacy of Europeans, Mr. J. G. Strydom, Minister of Lands, said today.

Speaking at the Congress of the Transvaal Nationalists, of which he is leader, Mr. Strydom said the Government's policy of "Apartheid" (racial' segregation) had only just begun to be put into operation. Mr. Strydom said at present the native représentatives in Parliament were simply the mouthpieces of Communists in the Union and would have to be abolished.

At the same time, the power of the native representatives in the Senate, where the Government was in a virtual minority, would be "adjusted" to ensure that they could not obstruct the major Government policy,

London Stock Exchange

London, November 16. The last day of account brough quiet firmness to most sections today. Talk of new government anancing and a new loan in connection with the African groundnut scheme, caused some hesttancy in gilt-edged stocks but this section eventually recovered and closed firm.

Trading in industrials consisted mainly of end of account levelling operations. Tobaccos and textiles were better on bear covering. which enabled tobaccos to recover earlier small losses.

Transport shares were a weak market. Marking down of these passenger carrying companies was the result of some uncertainty as' to their future. They have been left out of the nationallsation scheme that provided for Government acquisition of Thomas Tilling.

Quietly firm conditions existed in the oil section, with small support for leading issues. For Western issues were strong among South African minings. Speculative buying prompted by hope of good developments, resulted in sharp improvements.

Dividend payers remained steady, despite neglect. SECURITIES: British Consols, 235% ..... 79% Conversion Loan, $15%, 1961 106% Fundang Loan, 4%, 1969/90, , 135% War Lonn, 24%, 1952 ..... 103-9/16 War Loan, 3% ...... 105% Victory Bonds, 475 ...... 115%

Derby County have now tasted defeat for the first time this season. They went the way of all unbeaten teams and were soundly thrashed by Newcastle.

It remains to be seen what will happen on Saturday when Portsmouth are the visitors. Pompey had a run of successes at the Baseball Ground in the mid-thirties when they took all but one point in the six games of three successive seasons.

by 3 and 4 to nil and one by Home Park. 6 goals to 1. Next Saturday's ... Swansca, who lead Division Three (South) )by a point with pame is a real poser because i Dorby must recover from their one game in hand can be relied defent and Portsmouth have expense of Aldershot. Swansea yet to regain their form, having won the last game in Hampshire collected only two points from by two goals to one, Bournemouth, at present in second place go East their last four games.
